

Virtual Symposium

Sponsored by the Southeast Conservation Adaptation Strategy (SECAS) and the Southeastern Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies

SECAS and America the Beautiful - 30 x 30

Identifying Opportunities and Defining Outcomes in the Southeast
Monday, October 18

1:20 – 5 pm Eastern

Register for the conference: seafwa.org/conference/ to receive the link to the symposium

---

Join this virtual symposium examining the potential of the America the Beautiful conservation initiative and the national goal to conserve 30 percent of the nation's lands and waters by 2030. The symposium features key conservation leaders and visionaries in dialogue to elicit perspectives, define processes, seek common understanding, and identify next steps for this important conservation initiative for the Southeast.

The opening strategic discussion will be followed by lightning presentations focusing on existing initiatives, tools, projects, and efforts that contribute to common conservation goals in the Southeast. A concluding facilitated session with breakouts will identify next steps and recommendations for scaling up collaboration to achieve common conservation goals through SECAS.

Participants include:

Allison Fowler, Arkansas Game & Fish Commission

Joseph Gordon, The Pew Charitable Trusts

Laurene Hamilton, Greening Youth Foundation

Shawn Johnson, Network for Landscape Conservation

Rua Mordecai, U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service

Sara Parker Pauley, Missouri Department of Conservation

Kaleigh Pollack, Monacan Indian Nation

Bruce Stein, National Wildlife Federation

Chuck Sykes, Alabama Wildlife & Freshwater Fisheries Division

Land Tawney, Backcountry Hunters & Anglers

Lauren Ward, Conservation Without Conflict

Martha Williams, U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service